

SAN JOSE SCALE DESTROYED

THE DREADED FRUIT PEST EXTERMINATED IN ADAMS CO.

A Parasite Has Cleaned Up Pest so That Not a Living Scale Has Been Found.

When the State Horticultural Association met in Gettysburg during the second week of this month, at the close of a session, an unscheduled talk by Prof. H. A. Surface took place and at the end of it an assertion was made by Prof. Surface that was not widely heard, and which was so startling that its significance was not fully realized at the time.

He declared that the San Jose Scale had been exterminated in Adams county and also in the southern tier of counties of the State.

"In making this announcement of the discovery, propagation and despatch of an effective enemy of the San Jose Scale," said Prof. Surface, "I am announcing by far the most important horticultural event in America for the year."

"This parasite," he added, "which is a hymenopterous, a very minute wasp-like insect, has cleaned up the scale entirely in most orchards of the counties of Adams, York, Cumberland, Franklin, Dauphin, Lebanon, Lancaster, Berks, Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware. Orchards that were badly infested by the scale a year ago are now entirely free from it. Entire nurseries that could not get State certificates a year ago because of bad infection are now so clean that the best inspectors have been unable to find a living scale in them this season."

Several State inspectors were present and being called upon corroborated Prof. Surface in every detail of his announcement.

In an interview with Inspector E. F. Pierce, who has visited every nursery in the county and who has been in many orchards, the declaration was made by Mr. Pierce that he did not find a live scale in Adams county. He authorized the editor of this paper to give as a fact that the scale was a dead scale in Adams county. Every scale found on a tree had a hole bored through a vital part and was dead. At first he did not know what had done the killing but the microscope showed plainly the hole through the scale. At one time the parasite thought to do the killing was found but managed to escape. At length specimens had been captured and were being cultivated in the State laboratories.

In one sense this discovery was wonderful and in another only the expected. For Mr. Pierce stated that whenever a pest appears nature seems to provide an antidote for the pest. The proof of the extermination was made in other ways. Last year there were orchards having scale and the fruit having the unmistakable scale mark on the fruit. Mr. Pierce had not been able to find an apple in orchards where scale had been last year. This condition was marvelous from another point of view. This had been a year with lots of insects. Last winter had not been cold enough to exterminate quantities of insects as the preceding winter had been and insects of all kinds were abundant. In a year following such a winter had appeared the hymenopterous fatal to the scale.

What the destruction of the scale will mean to orchard men can not be fully appreciated at this time. It may mean that the spraying exclusively done for the scale may be omitted in part. The State agriculturists would not venture to advise omitting the spraying altogether. One spraying next year might be sufficient for scale, while there would have to be the usual spraying for codling moth and other pests. If next year shows that the scale stay exterminated it is likely that spraying for scale can be abandoned.

This extermination should be glad news to all orchard men. It ought to encourage the planting of many new orchards. The discouragement of the low prices last year are offset by the encouragement of the largest prices ever of this year. It is the consensus of opinion that the apple market is in its infancy, and will be developed to a point where there will be consumption of apples many more times than at present. The Adams county apple belt should be developed into one continuous apple orchard for the apples grown here are superior to any grown elsewhere and the soil in this county yields crops that no other product the farmer can plant will approach in value.

Campaign for Good Roads.

The campaign for the Constitutional Amendment providing $50,000,000 bond issue for Good Roads was started last Friday in Harrisburg at a convention in the State Capitol. Major Royal of Harrisburg welcomed the convention. Joseph B. Weeks of Philadelphia was selected as the presiding officer. Governor Tener made the first address, saying in part:

"Since the dawn of civilization, down the ages to the present day, no question has so engaged the thought of nations, communities and individuals as that of highway construction and improvement. Evidence of the truth of this assertion is found in the history of foreign lands and in our own country. Roads built in the days of Caesar and Napoleon are even now being traveled, while in the United States the national highways constructed before and during the Revolution-tionary period, still form in many instances the main arteries through the States for overland journeys."

"To-day, with the enormous increase in population and extension of national development, adequate highway transportation facilities become a still greater question of concern to the public and particularly so to the agricultural interests of this and other States."

"Road building in Pennsylvania from the time of the founding of the colony by William Penn, until the year 1911, has been carried on in a desultory and unsystematic manner. It was not until during the legislative session of 1911, when a comprehensive system of roads connecting all the county seats throughout the State by one or more routes, was devised that Pennsylvania evidenced a determination to improve her highways that they might no longer be a disgrace to our State which has met the reasonable expectations of her citizens in every other important respect. The comprehensive system to which I referred, contemplated the construction of more than 8,000 miles of road to be taken over, improved and ever after maintained by the State."

"The General Assembly in session the present year added some 900 miles to this system, and so today the State is committed to the construction and upkeep of approximately 9,000 miles of her public highways."

"To construct within a reasonable time with judicious economy and properly maintain these roads it is unreasonable to expect that sufficient money can be spared from the ordinary revenues of the State, and in conformity with the provisions of our Constitution, the proposition of whether or not bonds for this amount shall be issued will be submitted to the electors at the coming general election in November next, and should the amendment pass, it will be incumbent upon the Legislature of 1915 to pass an enabling act making provision for the tenure, rate of interest and other terms of the bonds as well as providing for the sale of the same from time to time in amounts limited to the needs of the department of the work progresses."

"I am advised by expert accountants that the sum of $50,000 set aside yearly and bearing interest at two per cent, compounded semi-annually will mature the principal of $50,000,000 worth of bonds in 50 years, and since this amount measures but the receipts from the sale of automobile licenses for the first four months in every year it is apparent how easily this money can be raised and spared to meet the payment of the bonds at maturity."

"For very many years Pennsylvania has levied no tax on realty for State purposes nor does she today tax real or personal property of any kind; hence it cannot be truthfully stated by the opponents (if there be any) to the proposed bond issue, that taxes on such property will be levied or increased, but on the other hand property values will increase, the prosperity and comfort of the people enhance and the present generation given to enjoy the resultant benefits."

JUSTIS ELKIN SPEAKS.

Justice John P. Elkin of Indiana, a member of the Supreme Court, in a lengthy address advocated good roads in the strongest language, urging prompt action.

"Advancing civilization demands better highways," said Justice Elkin, "and will not be content with the mud roads of former generations. It is high time for Pennsylvania to arouse from her slumbers and give her people the kind of roads they deserve. They are entitled to the best and will have the best, if the voters do their duty at the polls."

He impressed upon all the importance of doing this work now, taking prompt action, and in conclusion said: "Why do it now? Again let me answer. Because we have failed to do it before, and now is the time to begin to do what we should have done long ago. On the question of road making we have done those things which we should not have done, and left undone the things we should have done. For a hundred years road making in the rural districts of Pennsylvania consisted in plowing the mud and dirt out of the ditches in the spring time and shoveling it into the center of the highways to be washed into the ditches again by the first rain and plowed out the next spring. A mud hole in the highway was repaired by filling it with loose stones which resulted in making two mud holes instead of one. This was the old township supervisor system when road taxes were 'worked out.' Under such a system a thousand years would give us good roads. We want good roads now and not fifty or a hundred years hence. This is a sufficient reason for demanding action at once. Again, the money provided by the loan will be expended in all parts of the Commonwealth, and this will give employment to the farmers and laborers in the localities where the roads are being improved. Teams must be hired, men employed, and materials obtained at points near the place where the work is done. This means a substantial benefit to the people while the work is in progress. Why not reap that benefit now? If you fail to do it now, several years must necessarily elapse before you can have an opportunity of doing it again. Our constitution provides as follows: 'No amendment or amendments shall be submitted often-er than once in five years.'

"This means if the amendment empowering the Legislature to authorize a bond issue for improving and re-building our highways is defeated this year, it will be five years at least before another amendment of the same character can be submitted. Add to this two years necessary for legislative action and during the Revolution-

FARMERS' DAY OCTOBER 18

ALL MERCHANTS ARE FOR A SECOND FARMERS' DAY.

The Plans Are for a Greater Day Than Last Year With New Entertainment Features.

At a meeting of merchants and business men of the town in the Law Library Room, Court House, last Wednesday evening it was unanimously and enthusiastically decided that the Second Annual Farmers' Day should be held on Saturday, October 18. Wm. Arch McClean and George E. Spangler were re-elected Chairman and Treasurer of the organization for this year. Upon motion the following committees were named:

Committee to secure premiums for exhibits, Roy P. Funkhouser, P. Ward Stallsmith and N. L. Minter.

Committee on Program of Entertainment, C. Wm. Beales, Philip R. Bickle and John F. Walter.

The solicitation for funds was put in the hands of Penrose Myers.

The date for the Farmers' Day was considered at some length, an earlier date than last year, Oct. 26, was desired by everyone and the date fitting in best by reason of fairs and other events was decided to be Saturday, Oct. 18. The preceding Saturday, Oct. 11, will be Tooten Excursion Day. On Oct. 18 there will be a football game between the Gettysburg College and Muhlenburg teams and it is expected that one of the attractions will be a college boys' parade. It is probable that there may be several other parades, as country teams or automobiles. There will be several bands for entertainment and altogether Farmers' Day will be made one of great enjoyment, for the display of the products of our farmers and people on the one hand and for a demonstration that Gettysburg is one of the best business places, equal in many respects to a city.

The following is list of premiums so far reported. By our next issue, the list of premiums will be completed. All of our business people are heartily entering into the exhibition, the success of last year having demonstrated that Farmers' Day was a good thing to hold. The farmers should make preparations for the exhibition and as the announcement for Farmers' Day comes a month earlier than last year, the exhibition will be larger and better.

Issue these licenses to any other person than a County Treasurer.

"In this connection I desire to say, the law provides that a land-owner, or a tenant, residing upon and cultivating land, may hunt upon that land without securing said license; he may also hunt upon land immediately adjacent and connected with his land, without the license. If he secures permission to so hunt from those who control the adjoining land. This privilege covers only the property upon which the owner or tenant resides and cultivates; it does not include other tracts of land lying in different sections of the county or the Commonwealth; it does not include the woodlot or strip of mountain land that may be located miles away from such place of residence or cultivation. It does include the woodlot that is a part of the actual place of residence, a part of which is under cultivation."

"We believe we have treated the would-be hunter fairly in this matter we have given fifteen days of grace after the license blanks and tags have been placed in position where they can be secured and we are now giving notice that those hunting without a license are very liable to be arrested if caught violating the law."

SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS.

SETTLE — PLANK — Miss Maude Arlena Plank daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Plank of Gettysburg and John Clifford Settle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Settle of Seven Stars, were united in marriage at the home of Rev. A. R. Steck, D. D. in York on Wednesday evening, Sept. 10th at six o'clock. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony being used and at the conclusion, a prayer was read by Dr. Steck offered for the couple by the bride's grand uncle Rev. Wm. Gerhardt, D. D. of Martinsburg. W. Va. who is 97 years of age.

The bride was handsomely gowned in flesh colored chiffon draped over charmeuse with exquisite hand embroidery, and carried a bouquet of Bride's roses. Her sister Mrs. Jno. E. Shirey of Reading, Pa. was matron of honor and was attired in a beautiful gown of white voile over pink satin, trimmed with Irish crochet lace. After the ceremony a reception was tendered to the bridal party at the home of Miss Mary Emma Leifer. After a short wedding trip they returned to their newly furnished home in Seven Stars where they will be at home to their friends.

BAKER — TUDOR — Miss Edna Tudor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Tudor, and Maurice E. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker, both of Gettysburg, were married Tuesday, Sept. 9th, by Rev. S. W. Owen, at St. Paul's Lutheran parsonage, Hagerstown.

PRIOR — GLADHILL — Last Thursday Sept. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Gladhill, a very pretty wedding was solemnized when their daughter, Emma, and Mr. Harvey Prior, of Frederick, were united in wedlock by Rev. Hartzell, of the Fairfield Reformed church.

STALNECKER — STRANG — The marriage of Elmer S. Stalnecker of Harrisburg and Miss Mary Strang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strang, formerly of Gettysburg, has been announced as having taken place Sept. 25, 1912, at Hagerstown, by Rev. E. K. Thomas of that city.

LONG — KERCHNER — At a nuptial mass Tuesday, Sept. 9, in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, New Oxford, the rector, Rev. Father Shields, united in marriage Lloyd Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Long, of Mountpleasant township, Adams county, and Miss Annie Kerchner, of Lancaster. The attendants were Ralph Long, a brother, and Miss Mildred Long, a cousin of the groom.

WANTZ — HOLLINGER — On Sept. 2, at the home of Mrs. Lydia Wantz, by the Rev. Dr. O. P. Schellhammer, Philip C. Wantz, of New York city, and Velma C. Hollinger, of East Berlin.

The bans of matrimony were published for the first time in St. Mary's church, McSherrystown, on Sunday, between Gerald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith, and Miss Mary Julia Martin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, both of McSherrystown.

Cheap Paint

There are 1000 "cheap" paints and a dozen really cheap ones.

That double word "cheap" is the cause of, wasting more money than good paint costs, two or three times over.

Cheap paint is good paint: there is no other: no other is cheap.

The two words sound alike but their meanings are opposite. "Cheap" costs double. Cheap is Devoe.

ARGUMENT OF THE PRESIDENT

Chief Executive Favors Modern Road Development

WHOLE COMMUNITY BENEFITS

"Every Class Has Its Argument for Good Roads; and Putting Them Together They Form an Irresistible Mass of Arguments." — President Wilson.

Every law aiming at the improvement of the highways of the State or country, has, as its fundamental force, the highest interests of all the people. No road can be built, no important highway improved, but that every class of people is benefited thereby. Though perhaps a different kind of benefit may accrue to each class, it is not the less true that the benefit is direct and appreciable to each.

Probably the most direct benefit by the improvement of Pennsylvania highways will accrue to the farmers. Although they form less than one-third of the population—22 per cent to be exact—their immediate and constant use of the highways along which they live, and between their farms and the most available trading center and market town, makes them the most immediate sufferers from bad roads, and gives them the most prompt relief when the roads are improved.

The benefit of the improved roads to farmers assumes many forms. First, according to official figures compiled by the United States Government officials, a good road saves the average farmer $1.41 on every ton of produce he markets and of supplies he brings home. In addition to this farmers can make a specialty of market garden truck at three or four times the distance from a railroad station where the roads are good than where they are unimproved, and garden truck always brings good prices.

Then, the farmer's children can go to school every school day, instead of being obliged to remain at home because of bad roads. He can take his family to church regularly; and he can drive over and spend an evening with a neighbor. For five or six miles are less hard on animals and vehicles; and also on those who are riding, over a good hard surfaced road, than is a mile and a half where the roads are in their primitive condition. There are many other ways that the farmer benefits, such as the promptness with which the doctor can reach him in case of sickness or accident; in making a quick trip to town to replace a broken part of a machine, or for other needed supplies; and for getting out of life some of those pleasures so frequently denied those who are isolated by roads not suitable for travel.

And, in Pennsylvania, it is not alone those who live along the State Roads that will derive the benefit. Official figures, gathered in several states, show that approximately 85 per cent of the travel goes over the main roads, which amount to about 15 per cent of all the roads in a state. In a region where the country is more or less hilly, and the roads follow the valleys of streams the proportion of the roads which carry so much of the total travel is somewhat less, probably not more than 12 per cent of the total mileage, because the local roads make short cuts to the main roads wherever possible. Nearly every farm is so located as to give it the shortest possible trip to the main road, so that in nearly every trip on the road some part of it is over the main road, which in Pennsylvania is the State Road or the State Aid County Road.

With roads improved with a hard surface, a team can haul three tons with more ease than it can haul one ton on an earth road, and with less wear and tear on vehicle and other equipment.

There is another point which is often overlooked, which must appeal to the farmer when good roads are in prospect. Invariably, when a road is improved, conditions along that route change almost at once. Houses and barns get fresh coats of paint; tumble down fences are fixed up; front gates are made to work properly; the front and side porches and steps of houses get a few badly needed nails and perhaps boards to put them in condition; front yards are cleaned up and trees trimmed; unsightly accumulations of broken farm machinery, and other material is removed to the rear of the premises, or some other place out of sight, and the whole view from the road becomes pleasant, and indicative of culture, comfort and prosperity.

In the thousands of miles of good roads which have been built in the United States during the past few years, there has been hardly an exception to this rule. And the prosperity is real—real money in the farmer's pockets—and that fact makes the culture and comfort possible.

But the farmer has not a monopoly of the benefit when good roads are built. The merchant profits because he can sell goods at any time, instead of having his clerks idle when the roads are bad and finding himself short handed and overworked when they are passable. With the improvement of the roads the custom becomes more general and evenly distributed, with greater profits and satisfaction to both merchant and customer.

The doctor, the lawyer and the priest find their hardships greatly reduced by their being able to get about readily without reference to the seasons. The clerk, the miner, the mechanic, the laborer, who wish to take a trip in the country for an evening or a Sunday, can put on their Sunday clothes and go with comfort over good roads, while with the roads unimproved the seasons when such trips could be enjoyed only come occasionally. There's no enjoyment or profit in a muddy or rough road, anyway.

And more than all, the whole community benefits by the building of a good road. Nothing is more certain than that the increasing mileage of improved highways is bound to settle the problem of the high cost of living. By increasing the area of production of food stuffs, and enhancing the profit to the farmer per acre; and by providing for quicker and better and cheaper transportation to the cities the loss in waste will be so reduced that the final selling price will be but a fraction of what it is today. This will apply to practically every article of vegetable food; and when the road systems now contemplated are completed, the "high cost of living," which has for the past few years kept thousands of noses to the grindstone, will appear as but the faint recollections of an unpleasant dream.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

Big Meeting Called for September 18 at Harrisburg

Representatives From Each County Are Asked to Attend to Discuss the Proposed Bond Amendment.

The most important event in the history of road development in Pennsylvania will be the Good Roads convention to be held in the Hall of Representatives, Harrisburg, Thursday morning, September 18.

Here will meet representatives of motor clubs; good roads associations, boards of trade, chambers of commerce, medical societies, the hotel men's association, county and township officials and road builders and users.

As far as the farmer is concerned there is no longer any need of argument as to the advantages of improved roads. He is fully aware of the financial and social benefits to be derived from hard roads which can be traveled, regardless of weather, 365 days in the year, and he thoroughly understands how much closer they bring him to his market and how much more produce he can haul even though he may not be familiar with the statistics that have been compiled which prove the fact.

The farmer now owns a large and rapidly increasing proportion of the motor vehicles used in this state and he and the city motorist are a unit on the good road question.

It is the city resident who needs educating, who does not realize that the benefits of a system of improved roads extend to him, even though he never sees the roads themselves, in the reduced cost of garden truck which will be the inevitable result of the improved road and the cheap automobile.

The indifference of the city resident who does not use a motor car is what is hardest to overcome in any good roads movement particularly such as the coming election.

The matter of discussion however at the coming convention will not be the necessity or advantages of improved roads but how we are to secure them in Pennsylvania while we live to enjoy them.

Are we to follow the example of New York and some of the New England States and issue bonds to pay for their construction so that they can be built now or are we to continue to depend upon the varying and often miserably appropriations made each two years by the Legislature which will always be secondary to the ever increasing demands of our benevolent and educational institutions.

While the question to be decided at the November election is—shall the constitution of the state be amended to permit the issuing of bonds for highway improvement, it really spells shall we have improved roads in Pennsylvania now or is our splendidly planned system of $400 miles of state highways connecting all our county seats and important towns to remain a system on paper only, until our grandchildren's time.

This must be decided at the convention. If the bond issue is endorsed then county committees will be formed at once and meetings will be held throughout the state.

It is an important question and one that should have serious consideration. The popular sentiment among men who have made a study of the subject undoubtedly favors the bond issue plan and in fact no argument worthy of consideration has been offered against it.

Even were the greatly exaggerated statements which have been put into circulation for political reasons as to the inefficiency of the present Highway Department, of the poor work, lack of proper supervision, political jobbery, etc., true, they would constitute no argument against the bond issue proposition, for no money from this source can be made available during the present administration.

Every one interested in getting better roads in our state is urged to come to Harrisburg September 18. The farmer in particular will be made welcome for he is the man who gets the most direct and the most substantial benefit and in this case he sets them without cost to him, so he of all men should put his shoulder to the wheel.

DEVELOPMENT ROAD SYSTEM

Material Interests of State Benefited by Good Roads

"THE PEOPLE ARE THE STATE"

Good Roads Will Repopulate Abandoned Farms, and Bring Prosperity to All Pennsylvania.

"The people are the State." What ever affects one is the concern of all, in that larger equation that considers the general welfare. The prosperity of any special class adds to the general prosperity. An advantage extended to any line of industry is an advantage, not only to the community where that industry is located, but to that assemblage of communities which constitute a commonwealth.

To repopulate the seven thousand abandoned farms in Pennsylvania will add to the material interests, not only of the counties and townships in which those farms are located, but of the State as a whole. The return or replacement of the 100,000 people to the 22 counties whose population shrunk by that number between 1890 and 1900, and of the 32,000 people to 19 counties the population of which decreased to that extent between 1900 and 1910, will not only mean a larger local production and consequent increased local business activity, but will also be indicated in the greater figures of the general welfare of the state.

Properly cultivated, and with proper facilities for marketing, there is no more productive state in the Union than Pennsylvania. With its large cities, its mines, and its extensive industrial and manufacturing interests the demand for food products from the farms is insistent and constantly growing. All that is needed to bring the producer and consumer together to the great profit of both, is a ready means for the transportation of the products. That means can only be provided by improved highways over which it will not cost so large a percentage of the value of the produce as is now the case to transport it from the place of its growth to the place of consumption.

The area of farming land in Pennsylvania which can profitably be devoted to market gardening may be trebled or quadrupled when the roads are improved with a hard surface and with easy grades; and market gardening is away and by far the most profitable use to which farm land can be put; and land that is available for such use is invariably saleable at a much higher price than that which, by reason of the inaccessibility of markets, must be devoted to other purposes.

A close study of conditions in Pennsylvania, and of results achieved in other states, indicates that the increase in value of property caused by the improvement of a road will amount to twenty-five dollars an acre for a distance of a half mile each side of the road so improved. There are ten thousand miles in the State Road system, and by the time that is completed there will be ten thousand miles of State Aid county roads also built, making a total, not counting state aid township roads, of twenty thousand miles of well graded, drained, hard surfaced roads.

A strip of land half a mile wide along each side of these roads would make a total of twelve million, eight hundred thousand acres; and the increase in selling value, at $25 per acre, will amount to the enormous sum of three hundred and twenty millions of dollars. And the land will well be worth the increase, by reason of the greater opportunities for profitable production and cheaper marketing. Lands further from the main highways will also greatly increase in value, according to the distance and the improvement of the township roads.

The scenery in the mountains and hilly regions of Pennsylvania is unsurpassed. Wherever it has been advertised or exploited, as has been done by some railway companies, it has attracted attention throughout the civilized world, wherever railway advertisements reach, and that is nearly everywhere. But for every single scene that has ever been photographed and exploited there are thousands equally fine which have never seen the lens of a camera, and are unknown to fame. There are trout streams, and waterfalls, and forests, and rocky ledges, and canyons, and all the other wild and picturesque elements which are restful to tired denizens of cities, who seek solace in summer in sylvan shades.

Increasingly, year by year, the people of the cities who can afford to do so get out for a season into the hills and mountains for recreation and rest. They buy land, in large or small tracts as their means and inclinations suggest; they build summer homes; some large and pretentious; some quiet and modest; some bungalows, and some of the shack or log cabin order. And some carry tents, and make camps in which to recuperate for the arduous duties they must soon resume. Other thousands go where they can find summer hotels, and boarding houses which are within their means.

There can be no finer locations for such summer homes and summer resorts than in the mountains of Pennsylvania, where the elevation is such

IF YOUR CHILDREN ARE DELICATE OR FRAIL

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. Y. 13-17

that the nights are always cool, where the water is always sparkling and pure, where the air is fresh and invigorating. And all that is needed to bring the people to these mountains is a system of improved roads over which they can travel in comfort, and enterprising real estate men, and hotel men and others experienced in catering to this special class will do the rest, and make local markets for farm products in the deepest recesses of the hills and mountains.

Millions of dollars of Pennsylvania money is spent every summer by those who go from this state to the mountains of New England or to the Adirondacks, or Catskills, or elsewhere. Those states have built roads looking particularly to the comfort and convenience and encouragement of this class of people, and have profited greatly thereby.

With improved roads reaching into and through these sections of Pennsylvania, as the State Road system does reach, only waiting improvement, not only will thousands of Pennsylvanians take advantage of the opportunities presented, but other thousands, from other large cities in surrounding states, will also be attracted and the people and state will profit enormously.

These and many other planes of development are open to the people of the State of Pennsylvania by the building of good roads throughout the state. And the people will vote for or against the measure which will accomplish these results at the November election.

NO TIME TO KNOCK.

This is not the time for the friends or enemies of any administration to attempt to "get even" for any real or fancied grievance by standing in the path of progress. Under different administrations the work of road building must go on, as provided by law. There will be other administrations, and if one does not suit the people it can be changed two years afterward. But the work of building the roads should not be interrupted. Every interest in the State, agricultural, commercial, social, educational, demands that highway construction continue until the State and State Aid road systems are finished.

Unless the amendment to the constitution authorizing the bond issue be carried at the coming election road construction in the State will progress very slowly. Work on the State Road System had to stop on August 1 of this year because of the inadequacy of the appropriations. To relieve the situation, and make such conditions impossible in the future, all parties and interests should work together for the amendment.

Only by carrying the bond proposition at the coming election can the work of completing the State and State Aid road systems go forward. And the building of these roads means much to every resident of the State. It means for the farmer an improved road from his farm, or near it, to his county seat or other market-point; it means additional facilities for village and city merchants in the distribution of goods; it means for every class increased advantages, increased prosperity and comfort.

SHALL OUR PROGRESS CONTINUE

Road Improvement in Pennsylvania is the Next Step Forward.

It is within the memory of Pennsylvanians not yet too old for active and progressive work, when there were no typewriting machines; no telephones; no electric lights; and when letter postage was three cents for a half ounce. They have seen the revolution in commercial and social affairs brought about by the installation of these facilities. Now we have the Rural Free Delivery and the automobile truck, with the auto-bus lines making their appearance to the end that mankind may be happier, more prosperous, and better. It is all in the line of human development; the growth of ideas, of ideals, and of morals.

The roads of Pennsylvania must keep pace with the general development. The longer their improvement is delayed the more remote becomes the prosperity which is due the state and the people.

A vote for good roads at the coming election is a vote for progress, for prosperity, for the well being of the state as a whole, and of every individual within it.

Let no one be sidetracked by any side issue. If good roads are defeated this year it will take practically five years to get the proposition again before the people. There is no other issue. He who is in favor of Good Roads will vote for good roads.

The improvement of the roads of Pennsylvania depends on the votes of the people of the State in November. It is inconceivable that persons of intelligence should fail to be in favor of the proposition.

COAST TO COAST LINCOLN WAY

ROUTE WILL PASS THROUGH GETTYSBURG.

The Route Announced Last Week—
Side Routes to Lincoln's Home and Birthplace.

Thirteen states will be traversed by the Lincoln highway, the route of which was definitely announced recently in a proclamation issued from the national offices of the Lincoln Highway association at Detroit, and includes Gettysburg, Lancaster and York and other points across Pennsylvania from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. The states which will be honored by this memorial to Abraham Lincoln are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and California.

Starting in New York City, the highway passes through Jersey City, Newark and Trenton to Philadelphia, then west to Pittsburgh, through the north central section of Ohio, over to Port Wayne and South Bend, skirts Chicago, enters Joliet, Rockville, Sterling and other Illinois cities, reaches Iowa at Clinton and leaves at Council Bluffs passes through Omaha west to Denver and north to Cheyenne, goes through Green River and Evanston to Salt Lake City, finds its way into Nevada by way of Tippet's ranch and after reaching Reno goes to Lake Tahoe, Cal., finally ending on the Pacific seaboard at Oakland and San Francisco.

The directors of the Lincoln Highway association have endeavored to select a route of easy grades, yet combining the scenic splendors of the country. Some of the points either adjacent to or to be connected by branch highways are Gettysburg, Washington, Canton, the resting place of McKinley; the Mammoth cave of Kentucky, the home of Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., Lincoln's birthplace in Kentucky, the scenic splendors of Colorado, the Grand canon of the Colorado and the many varied wonders of Utah, Nevada and California.

PROCLAMATION.

The proclamation of the route of the Lincoln highway, which is signed by the directors and officers, R. A. Alger, Paul Deming, F. A. Seiberling, Albert J. Beveridge, John N. Willys, A. R. Partridge, R. D. Chapin, A. Y. Gowan, Emory W. Clark, Henry B. Joy and Carl G. Fisher, and also by Henry E. Bodman, legal counsel, and Frank H. Trego, engineer, is as follows:

Whereas, The purpose of this association is to immediately promote and procure the establishment of a continuous improved highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, open to lawful traffic of all descriptions and without toll charges, and

Whereas, Toward the end of accomplishing this purpose elaborate research and investigation has been prerequisite to crystallization of opinion before intelligent and wise decision could be reached, and

Whereas, This association expressly desires to impress upon all the people that it fully acknowledges that a public declaration by it of a route is of no force or effect, except as it shall be wise and practicable, and being so meet with the approval of the people for such a useful and enduring memorial, and

Whereas, It is obvious that this association can only aid and co-operate toward the desired end, and that upon all the people, and especially upon the officials of each state and county and upon the inhabitants thereof, within the borders of which is designated by these resolutions a section of the Lincoln highway, does rest the patriotic burden of establishing, broadening, straightening, maintaining and beautifying such highway to the end that it may become an appropriate memorial to the great martyr whose name it bears, and

Whereas, Our chief step toward the desired goal is to crystallize in the public mind the practical wisdom of the route selected, therefore be it recorded here:

First—That in general it has been for nearly a century and is today the main Overland trail, and that part lying west of Chicago is known by that historic name.

Second—It is the most direct and most practical route as to grades, curves and general topography.

Third—It is to the greatest extent improved and marked throughout its length.

Fourth—It is capable of being established as a fitting memorial highway at the least cost, and

Whereas, It is now proper to declare the results of deliberation and inspection in the hope that the wisdom and careful selection may insure united sentiment and with the prayer that this record will appeal to the hearts of all patriotic Americans to the end that plans and activities toward construction may go immediately forward, therefore be it,

Resolved, That the Lincoln highway now is and henceforth shall be an existing memorial in tribute to the immortal Abraham Lincoln.

That the Lincoln highway does extend from New York to San Francisco, over and through the following states: New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, California.

THE ROUTE.

Note specifically the route is described as passing through or near the following cities in the several states:

NEW YORK.—New York City, New Jersey.—Jersey City, Newark, Trenton, Camden.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia, Lancaster, York, Gettysburg, Chambersburg, Bedford, Ligonier, Greensburg, Pittsburg, Beaver Falls.

OHIO.—Canton, Mansfield, Marion, Kenton, Lima, Van Wert.

INDIANA.—Fort Wayne, Ligonier, Elkhart, South Bend, LaPorte, Valparaiso.

ILLINOIS.—Chicago, Elmhurst, Joliet, Geneva, LaSalle, Rockford, Aurora, Dixon, Peoria, Springfield, St. Louis.

IOWA.—Clinton, Dewitt, Cedar Rapids, Tama, Marshalltown, State Center, Ames, Grand Junction, Jefferson, Denison, Logan, Council Bluffs.

NEBRASKA.—Omaha, Fremont, Columbus, Central City, Grand Island, Kearney, Lexington, Gothenberg, North Platte, Ogallala, Big Spring, Chappell, Sidney, Kimball.

COLORADO.—Julesburg, Sterling, Fort Morgan, Denver, Longmont, Loveland, Fort Collins.

WYOMING.—Pine Bluffs, Cheyenne, Laramie, Rawlins, Wamsutter, Point of Rocks, Rock Springs, Green River, Granger, Fort Bridger, Evanston.

UTAH.—Echo, Parley's Canyon, Salt Lake City, Carlsbad, Grantsville, Kanaka Ranch, Fish Springs, Kearney's Ranch, Ibapah.

NEVADA.—Tippet's Ranch, Shoshone Pass, Ely, Eureka, Austin, Fallon, Wadsworth, Reno, Carson City.

CALIFORNIA.—Truckee, Auburn, Tallac, Placerville, Sacramento, Stockton, Oakland, San Francisco.

And be it resolved, That this is an appeal to the state authorities and to all officials to properly dedicate, to remark and rename the said described highway with the Lincoln highway insignia and be it finally

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the president of the United States, to the governors of each state and territory, to the members of the national congress and to the members of the legislatures of each state.

Size of Chautauque Movement.

The International Lyceum Association which is composed of a thousand of the well-known lyceum and chautauque workers, this year, held its eleventh annual convention at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, September 15-19, inclusive. For the past three years this organization has held its convention at Winona Lake, Ind.

The Chautauque, by reason of Secretary of State Bryan's lectures, has claimed as much attention as the Balkan and Mexican wars, the Japanese scare, the tariff, and it is almost on a par with baseball.

Lecturers of note, statesmen, musicians and artists in all the various branches known to the lyceum and chautauque profession are members of this organization, known to its friends as the I. L. A.

There is perhaps no other union of forces with quite the unique distinction that the I. L. A. claims. It is composed of those who furnish the performances, the managers who conduct the performances, the managers who conduct the business end of this vast and growing movement the agents who sell the programs to the various chautauque assemblies and lyceum courses, and the committeemen who annually spend about $10,000,000 for lyceum and chautauque attractions.

There are this season about 2,000 chautauques and 15,000 lyceum courses, and it was of this great people's movement that Theodore Roosevelt said: "The chautauque is the most American institution in America," and Senator La Follette has recently paid the lyceum this tribute: "From the time of Wendell Phillips until the present the lyceum has been the salvation of our republic."

NEW COUNTY OFFICIAL

County Inspector of Weights and Measures.

The Amending Act of July 24, 1913, to the Act of May 11, 1911, provides that the County Commissioners shall appoint instead of may appoint an inspector of weights and measures, whose salary shall not be less than $1000 per annum and actual expenses of transportation, hotel, livery, telephone, telegraph and postal charges. The inspectors will be supplied by the counties with standard tests of weights and measures in conformity with those established by United States and Pennsylvania.

The inspector shall have power within his jurisdiction to test all instruments and devices used in weighing or measuring anything sold or to be sold and seal the same if found to be correct. For purpose of making such test the inspector at any reasonable time and without formal warrant, may enter upon any premises, and may on public highway, stop any vendor or dealer, or stop any vehicle used in delivering any commodity which is weighed or measured or delivered. He may condemn and mark as condemned, or may seize, any false or illegal instrument or device used, or intended to be used, in weighing or measuring. If he shall seize any such instrument or device he shall retain possession thereof until it shall have been used as evidence in any prosecution relating to weights and measures or to the sale of commodities. After the determination of such prosecution the instrument or device shall be destroyed, unless otherwise ordered by the proper Court.

Punishments are provided for the use of false and illegal weights and measures, no to exceed $25 for first offense, $50 for second offense and for subsequent offenses not more than $100 or imprisonment. Inspectors violating provision of law can be severely punished.

Miss Beulah Minter of Arendtsville and Miss Margaret Donelson of Fairfield are spending some time in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

WORDS FROM HOME.

Statements That May be Investigated, Testimony of Gettysburg Citizens.

When a Gettysburg citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Gettysburg resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Mrs. J. Menchey, 46 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Since I used and publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago I have had no further need of a kidney medicine. I never enjoyed very good health and when kidney complaint came on, it caused me much distress. I had pains in my back and frequent ly had dizzy spells and chills. When a friend told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at the People's Drug Store. This remedy acted promptly and before long, I was in good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The House by the Side of the Road.

BY SAM WALTER IOSS.

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self-content;
There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fearless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran;
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban,
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles
Nor their tears—
Both parts of an infinite plan—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead
And mountains of wearisome height;
That the road passes on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to the night.
But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice,
And weep with the travelers that moan.
Nor live in my house by the side of the road
Like the man who dwells alone.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

READ THE COMPILER

TWENTY YEARS.

Makes a great difference in most women. They are troubled with "nerves"—they suffer from backache, headache, sleeplessness, a sensation of irritability or twitching, hot flashes, dizzy spells, or many other symptoms of female weakness. The local disorder and inflammation should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets and the irregularity and weakness of the female system corrected and strengthened with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The strain upon the young woman or the woman of middle age—upon the nerve and blood forming structures—may be too great for her strength. This is the time to take this restorative tonic and strength-giving nerve and regulator. For over forty years sold by druggists for woman's peculiar weaknesses and distressing ailments. The one remedy so perfect in composition and so good in curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. The one remedy which absolutely contains neither alcohol nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

Following letter selected at random from a large number of similar ones and cited merely to illustrate these remarks:

"In the winter of 1903, I became greatly run down and irregular," writes Mrs. HENRY SCOTT, of Swan Creek, Mich., Route 1, Box 49. "I slowly but surely grew worse, and, at last, resolved to apply to the doctors for help. The doctor said I had inflammation, enlargement and laceration. I was in bed eleven weeks and got no better. The doctor said I would have to have an operation, but to that I would not listen. My husband purchased two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I started to take this remedy I could not walk across the floor, but after I had taken three bottles I could feel myself gaining, so I dropped the doctor and took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Only for it I think I would have been dead—I really believe it saved my life. I feel better now than in twenty years."

SEVERAL FATAL ACCIDENTS

JOHN W. BENNER HORRIBLY
CUT BY CIRCULAR SAW.

Small Child Dies from Scalds Received in Upsetting Kettle of Peaches.

JOHN W. BENNER, a prominent and well known citizen of Mt. Joy township, lost his life on last Thursday from injuries received from walking into a circular saw. The accident took place early Thursday morning. Mr. Benner had taken a lot of logs to the saw mill of Edward Furney near Barlow to be sawed into lumber for some new buildings on his farm. He had carried away the first slab and was returning when by a misstep he came into contact with the saw. The right knee was first cut and in trying to save himself his right hand was placed in front of the saw and three fingers were cut off. His left arm was next caught and the saw passed through both bones of arm and almost severed the arm. Mr. Furney stopped engine as quickly as possible and Edward Benner, brother of injured man, rushed to his side and he was carried to house and physicians summoned. A trained nurse at a neighbors house hurried to him and applied a tourniquet and arrested the flow of blood. Upon arrival the physicians, Doctors Crouse and Kohler of Littlestown, and Dr. Elliott of Harney, he was removed to his home and operation performed, the left arm being amputated a short distance below the elbow, the left knee cap removed and also the first two fingers of his right hand. The operation lasted two hours and Mr. Benner never recovered consciousness, dying about 9.30 same evening, aged 62 years and 8 months. Mr. Benner was born in Mt. Joy township and lived there the greater part of his life. He married Miss Mary Hesson thirty-six years ago and until last spring lived on farm upon which they started housekeeping, removing then to another farm while their son Charles Benner, took charge of the home farm. He was a Republican in politics and was nominated by his party for County Commissioner. He was a member of Mt. Joy Church and always devoted to its interests, serving as Superintendent of the Sunday School for many years. He was a school director of his township at time of his death. He was highly respected by every one who knew him. The funeral was held on Monday morning, with interment in the Evergreen Cemetery of this place. He leaves besides his wife a son and daughter, Charles Benner and Mrs. Robert Durbin, both of Mt. Joy township. A brother and sister survive, Edward Benner and Mrs. Andrew Walker of same township. Mrs. C. F. Sanders and Mrs. Virginia Horner of this place are sisters of Mrs. Benner.

CHARLES HERMAN, the 2 1/2 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Markle of Union township, this county, died from scalds received in a peculiar manner on Saturday, Sept. 13. The child's mother was preserving peaches and had a large kettle of the fruit on the stove to boil. She left the kitchen for a moment, and was summoned back by the piercing cries of the child, who had reached up to the stove and catching hold of the edge of the kettle, upset the contents of the vessel. The scalding fluid was poured over the little fellow's body, burning the flesh in a frightful manner. The mother removed the child's clothing immediately and did all in her power to alleviate his sufferings. A physician was summoned by phone, and upon his arrival he gave prompt treatment, but had little hopes of recovery. After lingering until 3 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 14, the spirit left the little body, casting a deep gloom over the home and the entire community. Funeral was held on Wednesday, Sept. 17, services by Rev. J. H. Hartman, interment at St. Bartholomew's Cemetery.

SAMUEL A. VAN ORMER, 45 years old editor and owner of the "Bedford Gazette," and a graduate of Gettysburg College, was found dead beside his overturned automobile near Schellsburg, nine miles west of Bedford, on Sept. 17. The body was found by two girls who were driving cows to pasture. Mr. Van Ormer left Bedford same morning to visit his parents, Capt. and Mrs. W. W. Van Ormer of Schellsburg. What caused the accident has not yet been determined. Mr. Van Ormer was born in Schellsburg and from 1890 to 1897 taught in the county schools. He entered Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg, from which he was graduated in 1901, and the same year was elected to the chair of natural science and higher mathematics in the Maryland College for Women in Baltimore county, which position he held for years. While there he took a teacher's course in the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. In 1903 Mr. Van Ormer was with an engineering corps in Delaware, elevating the tracks of the P. D. & W. railroad. In August 1904, he purchased the interest of Edward F. Kerr in the "Bedford Gazette" and later, when J. Frank Hacheroide died, purchased his interest and had since been sole owner of the paper. Mr. Van Ormer married in April, 1911, Miss Edna Smith, who, with one daughter, Dorothy, 1 year old, survives. He is also survived by his parents and three brothers, the Rev. Bunn Van Ormer, of Shippensburg, and Charles and Dr. Van Ormer, of Schellsburg.

Rev. MICHAEL A. NOEL, assistant rector of the Church of the Jesu, Philadelphia, died on Sept. 11, from pneumonia, aged 57 years. He was born at Noel Mills, near Abbotstown, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Noel. He completed his theological studies at Woodstock College and was ordained to the priesthood in 1888. He has been conspicuously identified with work among convicts in New York and Philadelphia, having served as chaplain at Blackwell's Island, N. Y., and Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia. The funeral was on Sept. 15. He is survived by several brothers and a sister, Prof. S. P. Noel of Abbotstown, John Noel of Baltimore and Mrs. Susan Marshall of Brooklyn, N. Y.

BENJAMIN F. FRICK, a prominent business man of York died on Sept. 15 aged 71 years. He served as Prothonotary of his county. He served four years and 3 months in Co. A, of the 87th Regiment. He was captured and spent some time in Libby prison before being exchanged. He was a prominent Mason.

JOSEPH BROCKLEY, a prominent citizen of Hanover, died last Wednesday, Sept. 17, aged 65 years, 6 months and 20 days. He was engaged in the grocery and wholesale liquor business in Hanover for many years. He was a Democrat in politics and at one time Burgess of Hanover. The funeral was on Saturday, services by Rev. James A. Huber, interment in St. Joseph's Catholic Cemetery. He leaves a wife who was Miss Mary Harding of Hanover; two brothers and three sisters survive, as follows: John Brockley of Littlestown, Lewis P. Brockley and Mrs. H. O. Dellone of Hanover, Mrs. Edward Lippy of Hanover, and Mrs. James Noel of Waynesboro.

HENRY K. BURKHOLDER died at his home near Abilene, Kan., on Sept. 1 from asthma and heart trouble. Mr. Burkholder was born and reared on the Burkholder homestead, in Latimore township, but had been a resident of Dickinson county, Kan., for about 35 years. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son. Also a brother, C. K. Burkholder, of Bagley, Iowa.

MRS. SALLIE M. NOEL, widow of the late Adam Noel, died at the home of her son, Arthur Noel, McSherrystown, Wednesday, Sept. 17, after an illness of about three days, following a stroke of paralysis. She was aged 82 years and 2 days. The deceased was a daughter of the late Henry and Martha Spalding, of Littlestown, 10 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. The funeral was held from St. Mary's Church on Saturday with requiem high mass celebrated by Rev. L. Aug. Reudter. Interment was made on the family lot in Conewago Chapel Cemetery.

JOHN NEWCOMER died at his home in Taneytown last Thursday morning. He had been confined to the house and bed for several years, having sustained within the past eight years, five paralytic strokes and three sunstrokes. He had been in a very feeble condition during the past year, his death being expected almost any time. He leaves a widow and six children, Oliver of near Keyville, Jacob of York Springs, John W. of Hanover, Mrs. Harry S. Koons of Baltimore, Mrs. Amos Hilbert and Mrs. James A. Reid of Taneytown. He leaves one sister, Mrs. John M. Ott of Taneytown, and two brothers, Jacob of Harney, and Tobias of Frederick. He was in his 75th year. Funeral services were held Saturday, Sept. 20, interment in the Reformed Cemetery, Taneytown.

WM. H. HARMAN died in Philadelphia on Sept. 6th in his 86th year. He leaves four daughters and three sons, all of Philadelphia. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Dell of Hanover and Mrs. Hannah Rider of Littlestown.

MRS. ALICE L. HENRY, wife of Jacob Henry of Hanover, died Sept. 18, aged 55 years, 6 months and 6 days. Theological Seminary Opens.

On Tuesday morning of last week the Theological Seminary formally opened with special exercises in the Seminary chapel. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, president of the faculty made the address of welcome and opening prayer and Dr. T. C. Billheimer delivered an address.

The Seminary opens with a large enrollment of 46 students, Seniors 8, Middlers 18, and Juniors 20. The greater part of the Junior class being graduates from college last June. In the class is a student from Germany. The Seminary has been greatly improved during vacation. The improvements made for the 50th anniversary were largely permanent ones and after the fire in the old building, it was renovated and improved and the tower has been rebuilt over the exact lines of the old tower. A number of new cement walks have been constructed, one of special convenience running from and along Confederate avenue to the buildings.

Do you know you can buy here a Wooltex Suit at as moderate a price as $22.00
and $25.00 and as good as $37.50? ? ? ? ?

Some women have told us that they couldn't afford to buy a Wool-tex suit, and then have turned around and bought when they learned that Wooltex suits are not only moderately priced, but when compared with other suits at the same prices are far greater values.

No. 3526—Twenty-five dollars never bought the equal of Wooltex suit No. 3526. It's a plain tailored cutaway with distinctive style touches in the stitched tucks at the back of the jacket and in the skirt.
You'll find it an extremely useful garment for nearly ever occasion. It is made in a variety of cheviots and serges and is carefully tailored in the usual Wooltex way.

$25.00

No. 3527—The lover of outdoor sports will like this Wooltex suit Number 3527,
because of its easy, graceful lines. The Jacket is a plain tailored cutaway. The shirred effect at the sides of the skirt and the full panel at the bottom, permit plenty of foot room. In French serge, or wide wale cheviot, this model is an extraordinary value at $22.00.

No. 3532—The handsome suit Number 3532 is indicative of the styles coming in. The cutaway jacket and belted effects are some of its interesting style features. Made of sponge or other attractive materials, it is moderately priced at $35.00.

Look at the Wooltex suits in the picture---our prices for these Wool-tex suits are given with the descriptions.

THE GETTYSBURG STEAM LAUNDRY

During the past six months I have at the cost of considerable money and labor improved my plant by adding a number of the best and most modern machines known to the industry.

THE MOTIVE

First. To prolong the life of your linen.
 Second. Increased capacity.

The illustration shows a machine we have recently installed for ironing the top fold of a collar to a slightly round shape—thus permitting the free and easy movement of the tie back and forth to the proper position.

If there is any one thing that tries a man's patience and makes him irritable, it is to get a tie under a collar and then find that the tie sticks and can't be slipped or adjusted without yanking the collar, and consequently the upper part of the shirt bosom entirely out of shape.

NO CRACKING
NO FRICTION
JUST PRESSURE
TIE SLIPS

Third. Reasons why you should have your linen laundered at the GETTYSBURG STEAM LAUNDRY.

1st. Good work.

2nd. A Gettysburg industry.

WILSON'S REMEDY

EFFICIENT IN
BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA,
CATARRH, GRIPPE, STUBBORN COUGHS, ETC.

From a Minister in New York: "I was severely ill with lung trouble. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy
which I used with splendid effect."

From a lady in Michigan: "I used your remedy first 23 or 24 years ago and it saved me from ending my days with consumption. There would be no use of so many people dying with consumption if they could be persuaded to try Wilson's Remedy."

If you are suffering from ANY lung or

ACQUIRING EXPERIENCE

A Father Puts His Son's Shrewdness to
the Test

By THOMAS R. DEAN

"My son," said Nathan Mayer, a jeweler, "I am getting old and have decided to give up my business to you.
I shall leave enough capital with you to enable you to carry the same amount of stock I have always carried. Before turning over the management, however, I desire that you prove yourself fitted to assume it."

"Why, father, have I not been in your employ four years? Am I not considered an excellent judge of gems?
What need I of proving myself fitted
to manage the business?"

"I admit, Isaac, that as a judge of gems, especially diamonds, you are a better man than I, who have been in the business more than forty years. It is not having passed on you spurious stones that I fear, but the many tricks that are perpetrated by swindlers on jewelers. I have endeavored to sharpen your wits by explaining to you the different methods that have been attempted upon me, but my reputation for shrewdness has been such that few attempts have been made to get property from me without paying for it in good money. I shall go away on a trip, and during my absence you shall have charge of the business. Since you are a young man, the swindlers
will consider you one to be attacked with a fair chance for success. If on my return you have withstood their efforts and have kept the business up to its present prosperous condition I will turn it over to you."

"Never fear, father. I will increase the sales and will not get swindled either. How long will you be absent?"

"Six months. I think that long enough for the test."

Nathan Mayer gave his son, Isaac,
power of attorney to manage the business, to sign his name to checks and to use his capital; then the old man went abroad for change, rest and recreation. Isaac was only twenty-two years old, but was considered one of the smartest young men in the jewelry trade. He was very anxious to show his father on his return that he had not only done a larger business than the concern had ever done before, but had made no losses. Five months of his trial passed, and so far he had made good both his promises. There had been but few attempts to get gems from him without payment, and these had seemed so palpable he wondered that any one could have taken him
for such a fool as to be deceived by them.

Two weeks before his father was to return, in figuring his profits since the old man's departure, Isaac Mayer noticed that they were $4,200 more than those of the previous six months. He determined to strain every nerve to make up the remaining $800.

A few days later a gentleman who,
from his appearance might have been an English marquis, stepped into his store and asked to be shown some bracelets. The stranger's daughter was with him. She examined the jewels with her father, and it was evident that any purchase he might make would be for her. She wished a bracelet set with a ruby between two large diamonds, worth $6,000, but her father,
was unwilling to spend so much money,
for her in this way. Mayer heard her appeals and the reply of her father,
who told her that if certain securities
he had ordered sold in London, in case the market price on the Stock Exchange should rise to a certain figure he had been realized upon it would have given him a profit three times the cost of the bracelet and he would gladly buy it for her. Instead, he purchased one she fancied, set with a sapphire, worth $150. Drawing a check book from his pocket he wrote a check for the amount, saying that he would send some one, in whose knowledge of gems
he had confidence, to look at the setting, and if he pronounced the sapphire genuine Mayer was to send the bracelet to his hotel. The seller would have ample time to discover if the check was good.

The next day a man came into the store, looked at the bracelet, pronounced it genuine, the check was found to be good, and the bracelet was sent to the customer's hotel.

A few days later the stranger's
daughter entered the Mayer store, evidently in very high spirits, and told Isaac to send the bracelet she had covered to her father at his hotel.
"The shares have been sold," she exclaimed, bubbling with excitement.
"Papa got a cablegram from London
this morning."

The girl was very pretty and very charming in her frankness. She couldn't wait till the bracelet had been sent home, but must have a look at it.
When it was being shown her she manifested a great deal of trepidation
lest the purchase should be delayed pending the sending of funds from London. Another thing that troubled her was that her father had once bought a jewel and an inferior article had been substituted on delivery. She feared there would be a lot of red tape about that. Isaac assured her that all would go satisfactorily if she would be patient, and she departed apparently somewhat comforted.

The same afternoon Isaac took the bracelet himself to the stranger's hotel.

He found the gentleman somewhat indisposed, which was given as a reason for not going to his store instead of requiring him to come to his hotel. The man who had pronounced on the sapphire was telephoned for and was some time coming. Meanwhile Isaac was entertained by the young lady very agreeably. He took occasion to pump her about her father's antecedents, his home and affairs in England and other matters in order to satisfy himself that his customer was a gentleman from whom he had nothing to fear. She ingenuously told him many things that gave him confidence.

When the expert came in he examined the bracelet with great care, using a microscope for the purpose, and when he had done so said to the Englishman:

"These stones are genuine and worth the price asked for them. But one thing I wish distinctly understood—I am approving them, and them alone.
If in this transaction you come into possession of similar stones of less value don't blame me. That is your lookout and not mine."

At this the young lady looked troubled and her father seemed puzzled.

"I was caught that way once," he said, "and will never be so imposed upon again. Let me see." And he appeared to be thinking of some plan by which he might feel sure he would get the article he paid for. "The trouble is two sided," he went on presently.
"I don't ask Mr. Mayer to trust me any more than I am willing to trust
him. It is a purely business transaction. If I had the price of the bracelet right here in gold coin and could exchange the bracelet for the gold we would both be satisfied. Unfortunately I must wait for funds to be cabled
from London, which will require several days. I fear we shall have to go over this inspection again when my funds arrive."

"I shall not be here to make it for you," said the expert. "I am leaving town tomorrow to be gone for some time."

The girl looked ruefully at Isaac as if to say, "I told you so; I shall never get my bracelet."

"I can suggest a way out of the matter," continued the expert. "Seal the bracelet in the box in which it came to you with your seal. Let Mr. Mayer take it back to his store and keep it till you are ready to pay for it. Then break the seal yourself and you may be sure you have the gems I have pronounced upon."

"That's a good idea," said the Englishman. "I will not claim the bracelet till my check for it is pronounced good. Would that satisfy you, Mr.
Mayer?"

"Perfectly," said the jeweler, secretly hoping that the funds would arrive and the sale be effected before his father's return. There was $900 profit in it, and Isaac needed the amount to make up the $5,000 excess he desired to show during the old man's absence.

Meanwhile the box containing the bracelet had been passing from one to the other of those present. At Isaac Mayer's assent the Englishman took it from his daughter. Mayer, who was keeping an eye on it, glanced at it as it passed from father to daughter and,
though they were at some distance
from him, saw the lid go on the box containing the bracelet. Wax was produced and the box sealed with a ring
the purchaser wore on his little finger.
Then it was handed to Mayer, who,
very happy over the sale, withdrew.

Several days passed, and nothing more was heard of the Englishman or his daughter. Isaac sent a clerk to the hotel to ask after them. He came back with the information that they had left town the day the sale was made. Isaac made a jump for the safe in which he had placed the bracelet, broke the seal, took off the cover, and there, nestled inside was the bracelet he had sold for $450. He had been victimized to the amount of $5, $50.

In less than a week Nathan Mayer arrived from abroad and, instead of finding a hearty welcome from his son, was received with a lugubrious countenance.

"What's the matter, Isaac?" he asked quickly. "Anything gone wrong?"

Isaac told the story of how he had been victimized with a hanging head.

"Well, my boy," said the old man,
"you've learned what I have long known—that it takes a lot of experience in the jewelry business to keep out of the toils of sharpers. You'll make it up some day. Don't worry about it now. I've just got home and have invited some friends I met abroad
to dine with us. Don't put a damper on the dinner by mourning over your loss."

This did not comfort Isaac, but he managed to get into dinner dress to help entertain his father's friends.
What was his astonishment when he went from his room down to the drawing room to see the Englishman and his daughter who had swindled him.
On a table lay the bracelet they had made away with.

"This is my friend, Mr. Ackerman of London," said Nathan Mayer, "and Miss Ackerman. You've met before, eh?
Well, you must forgive your old father for playing a trick on you. I knew the plan myself. We talked it over in London, and they, coming over ahead of me, carried it out beautifully."

Miss Ackerman advanced, smiling,
put out her hand to Isaac and grasped
his warmly.

"Forgive me," she said.

"I had to be swindled," he replied.
"I would prefer to be swindled by so charming a young lady. I must compliment you on your ability as a deceiver."

"You mean as an actress," said Mr.
Mayer, Sr.

Mental Originality.

Anatole France colored a phrase which may have the breath of life in
it. "What is madness after all," he says, "but a sort of mental originality?" He writes that Charles Dickens always asked madmen and eaves among the madmen good Mr. Dick in "David Copperfield" whose innocence is described with such tender grace. "I believe," writes the great Frenchman
of letters, "that Dickens had more feeling than any other writer. I believe that his novels are as beautiful as the love and pity that inspired them. I regard 'David Copperfield' as a new gospel. I believe, lastly, that Mr. Dick is a 'sensible' madman, because the only reason left to him is the reasoning of the heart, and that is hardly ever received. What matter if he does fly kites, on which he has written some reflections concerning the death of King Charles I? He is benevolent, he wishes ill to no one,
and that is a piece of wisdom to which many sane men do not so easily attain as he."

Great Eaters, Great Breakfasts.

"Looking over the aged pages of Morris Berbek's 'Journey in America,' which extended through Ohio, we found this account of a breakfast at Rushville, June 16, 1877, in Fairfield county:

"A gentleman, myself and three children sat down this morning to a repast consisting of the following articles: Coffee, rolls, biscuit, dry toast, waffles (a soft, hot cake of German extraction covered with butter), pickled salmon, a fish from Lake Huron, veal cutlets, broiled ham, gooseberry pie,
stewed currants, preserved cranberries, butter and cheese. For all this for myself and three children and four gallons of oats and hay for four horses,
we were charged 6s. 9d. for about $1.65."

There were great eaters in those days, and from this record they got plenty to eat.—Ohio State Journal.

First Chess Champion.

Auburn: history locates chess in Persia in 700, and the word chess is known to be of Persian origin, coming from the word "shah," meaning "king,"
and chess has been considered a game for kings from time immemorial. The game found its first home in Spain toward the close of the fifteenth century, and in 1561 Ruy Lopez published his treatise, which is recognized as the foundation of all modern chess. His work was republished in Venice in 1584, and from that date the Italians became recognized for their chess dominance. The first chess champion seems to have been Paolo Boi, who defeated every master of his time, including Ruy Lopez himself. Chess playing as an occupation is not a profitable employment, although most of the chess masters devote their time exclusively to it and therefore earn a most precarious sort of a living.

How Rough Diamonds Shrink.

The loss in weight in diamonds when going through the process of cleaning and chipping and polishing amounts to from 50 to 60 per cent on the average.
Accordingly, the price of a rough diamond will have to be advanced in the finished brilliant, aside from all other expenses, at least twice to three times.
With the well known "solitaires," the loss in weight is even greater, because it is necessary to chip off so much more. Thus, the diamond Excelsior, which, in its crude raw state, weighed 971 1/2 carats, produced two brilliants, weighing together only 340 13-32
carats, with a loss in weight of 65 per cent; and the Cullinan, originally weighing 3,024 1/2 carats, was reduced to only 880 carats, with a loss of 67 3-5 per cent.

Have the Best Last.

He who eats the best grapes from a bunch first and finishes with the poorest on the stem is likely to feel at the end that grapes are very unsatisfactory and that he does not care for any more. But if the last few grapes are good he is more than likely to reach for another bunch. And so it goes with all the gastronomic affairs of life. The dinner that starts off with a very poor soup and works through a mediocre fish to a fair entree, so excellent roast and a superb salad,
concluding with unimpeachable coffee
and a dessert fit for a queen, leaves
a far better impression than a dinner that starts with excellent soup and progresses "downward" steadily to an atrocious finish.—Providence Journal.

Her First Ice Cream Soda.

She was evidently more than fifty and she showed every outward sign of poverty and hard work—unending hard work. But evidently this was a special event and her eyes shone with excitement. She entered one of the big drug stores and while her excitement visibly increased her assurance seemed to fade. After hesitating a moment she walked over to the soda fountain, where a pleasant faced boy was "wiping up." Pushing a nickel over the marble counter, she blurted in an awkward manner that she wanted a soda. The proprietor of the drug store, who was watching her, is a kindly man and he grasped the situation at once. With a bound he was behind the counter before the boy could tell this excited reveler that her soda would cost ten cents. Then he himself mixed a delicious strawberry ice cream soda and gave it to the little old woman, who sank contentedly upon one of the stools at the counter and gave herself over to it. The proprietor smiled crookedly down at the nickel as he dropped it into the cash drawer and rang up a five cent sale.—Exchange.

How to Be an Inventor.

A retired professor of mechanical engineering was called upon to deliver a few lectures on invention to the senior engineering classes. His first injunction was that when one attempts to devise a machine to do a certain thing, one must consider directly the fundamental operations to be performed and must wipe from the mind all existing methods and all preconceived notions. He stated that one so called inventor attempted in the days of the scythe to invent a mowing machine. Being familiar only with the scythe, he designed a horse drawn machine which would swing a scythe. He simply replaced the man by a mechanism. It is needless to say that his invention did not survive. The problem of efficiently cutting hay and grain was not successfully solved until it was attacked by a man with an open mind, and he devised the knife of the modern mowing machine or reaper.—American Machinist.

The Perfect Cup of Coffee.

Fill a kettle with fresh cold water that has run for a few moments and put it to boil. Place over an open china teapot kept just for coffee (as metal is deleterious) a clean wet old linen napkin or a new square of unbleached muslin, letting it sag toward the center. Put into the depression four heaping tablespoonsful (for four cups) of coffee of finely pulverized Java and Mocha or any preferred brand of coffee. When the water in the kettle is at the galloping point pour it through the coffee slowly until four cupfuls have filtered through. Just the contents of the kettle can go in it measured before boiling, allowing a little for waste. Cover and take at once to table. Wash the cloth immediately after breakfast and keep in a jar of cold water, never permitting it to get dry, and freshening the water every day.—New York Times.

Oiling Japanese Umbrellas.

The vegetable oil used in making paper umbrellas in Japan is pressed out of the seeds of the rubber plant. This oil is made in the various islands famous for oil and seeds from these plants. Sandy ground is favored for the cultivation of the plant. The yield of seeds is estimated at twenty bushels per acre. The annual production throughout Japan amounts to 350,000 bushels, from which over a gallon of oil per bushel is extracted. The oil, before it is used, is boiled and then cooled until it can be applied by hand to umbrellas with a piece of cloth or waste. No machinery or tools are used in applying the oil. When the oiling is completed the umbrellas are exposed in the sun for about five years. This oil is also used in making the Japanese lanterns, artificial leather, printing ink, lacquer, varnishes, oil paper and paints.

His Wedding Present.

"I willingly countenance your marriage with my daughter," wrote a physician to his prospective son-in-law, "conditionally on your accepting as a wedding present her mother. As a wife she has not been a success; as a mother-in-law she is at least problematical. At all events, I can endure her temper no longer, and as she expresses a wish to live with her daughter I am sending her along by the next train."

In due course the lady arrived and lived with the young couple for many years.—London Mail.

Apply Your Knowledge.

"A college education is worth $25,000 an increased earning capacity," declares a western university. It is, and it isn't. There are college men who could not earn this sum in twenty-five years. There are men earning twice as much in a year who never even walked by a college. It's a fine thing to have, but its earning capacity depends upon the practical use made of it says the wise man in Power.

For Making Lime-Sulphur Solution.

An extensive orchardist in Pennsylvania has written to Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, Harrisburg, saying that he wishes to get proper apparatus for boiling his Lime-Sulphur Solution at home and asked if he was rightly informed when someone said the fire and sulphur would destroy the galvanizing of galvanized iron. He also asks for the formula and methods of making Lime-Sulphur solution. The reply by Dr. Surface is timely and practical. Tens of thousands of persons in this State will make use of this information this fall. It is as follows:

"Concerning a tank to boil lime-sulphur, I can say in the first place that this has been proven to be positively the best, most economical and most satisfactory spray liquid that can be used on trees; and by far the most rational thing for any horticulturist to do is to make his own. I have rows of barrels which are used for holding lime-sulphur made during the bad weather in winter and in which it is kept until we can apply it during the spring or latter part of winter. I use chiefly ordinary iron kettles, such as are used in butchering, but I also use some galvanized iron tubs. I have such a tub made of ordinary galvanized iron that has been in active and severe use for eight years and the galvanizing is not yet eaten off by the fire and sulphur, thus you see that you have been misinformed on this point.

"You can do nothing better than to construct a boiling vat shaped like a cigar box, with the bottom made of galvanized iron and the sides and ends made of boards, and the galvanized sheeting turned up and nailed to the boards. Anything whatever will do for boiling the lime-sulphur solution excepting copper. It will dissolve or go through a copper vessel. It is one of the easiest materials to prepare that is known to mankind. All you have to do is to put together the lime and sulphur and water and boil it."

One method of boiling that I have found very satisfactory is to put the lime, the sulphur and the water into barrels, provided with steam pipes extending to the bottom of each, and then turn on the steam and boil it with this. The commercial lime-sulphur, such as you make inquiry about is just the same as the home-boiled in every way. In fact I have boiled it in ordinary open iron kettles with the cheapest grade of ground commercial sulphur and make it stronger than any commercial article I have ever tested.

Ordinary ground sulphur or commercial sulphur will cost about 1 1-2 cents per pound. Almost any good quick lime will serve the purpose for lime, but I prefer to be sure of having a calcium lime instead of a magnesium lime. For this I use the York lime.

"The formula for making lime-sulphur solution for either commercial purposes or home use is practically as follows: In each gallon of water boil two pounds of sulphur and one of lime for one hour. Let it settle and you will have a red liquid. When ready to use dilute it, using a hydrometer to test as strong as 1.03. The hydrometer is an instrument made by the Carbondale Instrument Co., Carbondale, Pa. This is nearly the whole story in regard to preparations for spraying for winter and spring."
